

I am outraged that Sinclair Broadcast Group plans to air "Stolen Honor" on a news program just before the election. This so-called documentary sounds like political propaganda to me. They are abusing their privileged access to the public airwaves to sway the election in favor of an administration that lets companies like Sinclair to grow even bigger. I expect the FCC to regulate such misuse of our public airwaves to promote programming for the good of the public.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
